You have a sweet tooth. You like chocolate, candy, and cake. They may not be good for your body, but you can't say no to them. You want them every day. What's going on with you? Well, maybe it's not you; maybe it's your brain.

With sugar in your body, your brain makes dopamine. With dopamine, you get good feelings, and your brain likes those feelings. But the dopamine in your brain is not there for long. It fades away, so your brain wants more. It says to you, "You want good feelings; you want sugar." Then you want sweet food again. After some time, your brain loves sugar too much. From a small slice of cake to a big bag of chocolate, you want more and more.
